Introduction

The Labour Force Data, Historical, 1997 to 2006, has been compiled using the Labour Force Survey series from Statistics Canada's CANSIM[1] database, and historical labour force data in its annual LFS CD-ROM product—see 2006 Labour Force Historical Review, Catalogue No. 71F0004XCB[2]. While the Economics & Statistics Division's, Labour Force Data, Historical includes key labour force indicators 1997 to 2006, the Statistics Canada CANSIM and CD series of LFS estimates, contains thousands of cross-classified data series, with most of the data spanning 1976 to 2006. In addition to the tables included on the following pages, the Statistics Canada CANSIM and CD products can also be referenced on a much wider range of monthly and annual labour force data (see subject areas below).

About the Labour Force Survey (LFS)

The Labour Force Survey (LFS—Survey No. 3701[3]) is a household survey carried out monthly by Statistics Canada. Begun in 1945, the objectives of the LFS have been to divide the working-age population into three mutually exclusive classifications: 1) employed, 2) unemployed, and 3) not in the labour force; and to provide descriptive and explanatory data on each of these categories. Data from the survey provides information on major labour trends such as shifts in employment across industrial sectors, hours worked, labour force participation and unemployment rates.

The LFS survey uses a sample of individuals who are representative of the civilian, non-institutionalized population 15 years of age or older in Canada's ten provinces. Residents of the Territories, persons living on Indian Reserves, full-time members of the Canadian Armed Forces and residents of institutions are not included in the survey's coverage. There are currently 3,005 Nova Scotia households in the current sample and

[3] See: http://www.statcan.ca/english/sdds/index.htm

53,648 households in total across Canada (unchanged from January 2006).

Definitions—the key definitions used in the LFS follow. For a more detailed dictionary of concepts and definitions refer to Statistics Canada, Guide to the Labour Force Survey, Catalogue No. 71-543-GIE.

Population: The target population covered by the survey corresponds to all persons aged 15 years and over residing in the provinces of Canada, with the exception of the following: 1) persons living on Indian Reserves, 2) full-time members of the regular Armed Forces, and 3) persons living in institutions.

Labour Force: The civilian non-institutional population 15 years of age and over that, during the survey reference week, was employed or unemployed and actively looking for work. Prior to 1966, persons aged 14 and over were covered by the survey.

Employment: Employed persons are those persons who, during the reference week, did any work for pay or profit, or had a job and were absent from work.

Full-time Employment: Refers to those persons who usually work 30 hours or more per week at their main or only job.

Part-time Employment: Refers to those persons who usually work less than 30 hours per week at their main or only job.

Unemployment: Unemployed persons are those persons who, during reference week, were available for work and were either on temporary layoff, had looked for work in the past four weeks, or had a job to start within the next four weeks.

Not in the Labour Force: Persons not in the labour force are those who, during the reference week, were unwilling or unable to offer or supply labour services under conditions existing in their labour markets, that is, they were neither employed nor unemployed.

Unemployment Rate: The number of unemployed persons expressed as a percentage of the labour force. The unemployment rate for a particular group (age, sex, marital status, etc.) is the number unemployed in that group expressed as a percentage of the labour force for that group.

Participation Rate: The total labour force expressed as a percentage of the population aged 15 years and over. The participation rate for a particular group (for example, women aged 25 years and over) is the labour force in that group expressed as a percentage of the population for that group.

Employment Rate: The number of employed persons expressed as a percentage of the population 15 years of age and over. The employment rate for a particular group (age, sex, marital status, province, etc.) is the number employed in that group expressed as a percentage of the population for that group.

Employment in Nova Scotia averaged 441,800 in 2006, a decline of 1,300 over 2005 (-0.3 per cent) and 59,800 or 15.7 per cent above the 1997 figure. From 1997 to 2006, there has been an 18.6 per cent increase in full-time jobs and a 4.4 per cent gain in part-time positions. During this period, full-time female employment rose 30.4 per cent and part-time employment was unchanged, while male full-time and part-time employment increased 10.5 per cent and 15.1 per cent respectively. In 2006, while 88.1 per cent of men employed were full-time and 11.9 per cent part-time, 74.1 per cent of employed women worked full-time and 25.9 per cent worked part-time.

Employment in Canada stood at 16,484,300 in 2006, up 1.9 per cent over the previous year and 20.3 per cent over 1997. From 1997 to 2006, there has been an increase in full-time and part-time positions of 21.8 per cent and 13.7 per cent, respectively. During this period, full-time female employment rose 30.0 per cent and part-time employment increased 10.9 per cent, while male full-time and part-time employment increased 16.4 per cent and 20.2 per cent, respectively. In 2006, while 89.2 per cent of men employed were full-time and 10.8 per cent were part-time workers, 73.9 per cent of employed women worked full-time and 26.1 per cent worked part-time.

ent in 2006

In 2006, Nova Scotia's number of unemployed persons decreased by 2,700 from the previous year. The annual unemployment rate was 7.9 per cent in 2006, as compared to 8.4 per cent in 2005 and 12.2 per cent in 1997. Canada's unemployment rate in 2006 was 6.3 per cent, down 0.5 percentage points from 2005, and it stood at 9.1 per cent in 1997. From 2004 to 2005, the unemployment rate decreased in all provinces with the exception of Prince Edward Island.

Employment in Nova Scotia's goods-producing sector, which represented 19.4 per cent of total employment in 2006, decreased 6.0 per cent over the previous year. Within the goods producing sector in 2006, employment declines were noted in all major industry groups: agriculture (-19.0 per cent); forestry, fishing, mining oil and gas (-15.3 per cent); utilities (-25.0 per cent), construction (-1.4 per cent); and manufacturing (-3.0 per cent).

There was a 1.2 per cent growth in employment in Nova Scotia's service sector during the same period. Percentage increases in employment in the service sector industries from 2005 to 2006 were in trade (0.5 per cent); finance, insurance, real estate and leasing (2.3 per cent); business, building and other support services (19.0 per cent); health care and social assistance (5.5 per cent); information, culture and recreation (3.2 per cent); and public administration (6.6 per cent). There was employment decline within transportation and warehousing (-11.0 per cent); professional, scientific and technical services (-8.9 per cent); educational services (-1.7 per cent); accommodation and food services (-5.7 per cent); and other services (-0.5 per cent).

The Halifax[1] unemployment rate in 2006 decreased 0.8 percentage points over 2005 to 5.0 per cent and represented a 4.1 percentage point decline over 1997. The Halifax employment rate (ratio of number of persons employed as a percentage of population 15 years of age and over) was 65.8 per cent in 2006, a 0.2 percentage point increase over 2006 and a 4.4 per cent increase over 1997.

The following table indicates the unemployment rate of the regions of Nova Scotia in 2006 and compares the change over 2005.

[1] The geographic boundary changes from 1996 Standard Geographical Classification (SGC) to the 2001 SGC have affected Census Metropolitan areas. As a result, the Halifax CMA boundary is now aligned with the 2001 Census boundary. Thus, Halifax CMA and Halifax Region now occupy the same boundary area.

(1) The geographic boundary changes from 1996 Standard Geographical Classification (SGC) to the 2001 SGC have affected Census Metropolitan areas. As a result, the Halifax CMA boundary is now aligned with the 2001 Census boundary. Thus Halifax CMA and Halifax Region are now one in the same.
